BUSINESS AND ANTICIPATED BUSINESS PLAN

7. Describe the business of the Issuer and anticipated business plan:

Eazl is in the e-learning business. The Issuer exists to design, produce, and distribute high-quality and exceptionally affordable video-based online learning experiences (hereafter, "the courses"). The Issuer's business model is to sell access to the courses to students, both directly and through distribution partnerships. In addition to selling access to the courses, the Issuer may be able to develop products and services related to the courses in the future.

Meg Media Inc. owns the Eazl brand and a catalog of existing online learning experiences. As of early 2018, Meg Media Inc. has an audience of more than 100,000 students worldwide and has already authored a selection of bestselling online learning experiences. None of the online learning experiences that Meg Media Inc. has already published comprehensively cover common undergraduate subjects. Therefore, this issuance is intended to enable Meg Media Inc. to serve a group of students that is distinct from, but related to, Meg Media Inc.'s existing audience--namely, students at

These securities have not been recommended or approved by any federal or state securities commission or regulatory authority. Furthermore, these authorities have not passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this document.

These securities are offered under an exemption from registration; however, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has not made an independent determination that these securities are exempt from registration.

8. The following are material factors that make an investment in the issuer speculative or risky:

- Major Production Effort: The Eazl Digital Degree involves the creation of a large collection of online learning content. Therefore, the design and production of this content will require the coordination of many people working together in a creative capacity. When groups of people are collaborating on such a large project, complications related to staffing, coordination, and budget management create risks that the collection of content might be produced more slowly than anticipated, which creates business risk.
- Scaling Student Support: Ensuring that the Eazl Digital Degree program runs smoothly is no small task. Students learning in an online environment benefit greatly from opportunities to demonstrate their work and receive feedback and the Issuer must verify that students have actually completed the coursework they claim to have completed. Every time a student requests and receives feedback or requests verification of completed coursework, the Issuer's student support team incurs a cost (in terms of time and thus, money). There is a real risk that the Issuer's support systems will face difficulties serving a large group of students using the Issuer's online coursework to learn and ultimately earn their Digital Degree.
- Demand for Courses: As of early 2018, the majority of the independently-produced online courses (like the ones that the Eazl Digital Degree Project produces and sells) are tailored to the needs of working people, not undergraduate students. Therefore, there is a risk that learners seeking undergraduate coursework will not express a strong demand for the online learning content produced and distributed by the Issuer.
- Satisfaction with a Degree from a Non-accredited Organization: While the Eazl Digital Degree program will verify student coursework and ultimately issue an "undergraduate degree" (the Issuer calls these undergraduate degrees "Digital Degrees"), these Digital Degrees are dissimilar to those issued by traditional "land-grant" universities (like the University of Illinois) or accredited online universities (like the University of Phoenix) in that Eazl is not an accredited higher educational institution and doesn't plan to seek traditional accreditation in the future. Therefore, there are real risks that (1) some students who earn a Digital Degree through the Issuer will be dissatisfied with the credential they've earned and (2) Eazl will face legal and/or regulatory challenges related to the Digital Degree program.
- Entry of Competitors: The market for video-based online learning offerings is growing fast which attracts new entrants to the market. Also, in-person attendance at many traditional colleges and universities is dropping, which may cause those organizations to offer new online programs. As new competitors enter the market, they could take market share from this Issuer and cause demand for the Issuer's offerings to decline.

- Projections Are Only Estimates: There can be no assurance that the Company will meet those projections. The Company will only succeed (and you will only make money) if there is sufficient demand for Eazl's products and services, people think it's a better option than the competition, and Eazl is able to sell products and services at a level that allows the Company to make a profit.
- Valuations are Speculation: Any valuation at this stage is speculation. No-one is saying the Issuer is worth a specific amount. They can't. It's a question of whether you, the investor, want to pay this price for this security. If you can't make the call, don't invest.
- Over Reliance on Leadership: We depend on the leaders of this Issuer, named in Questions 5 and 6, to work effectively as a team, to execute our business strategy and business plan, and to manage employees and consultants. Our success will be dependent on the personal efforts of key personnel. Any of our officers or employees can terminate his or her employment relationship at any time, and the loss of the services of such individuals could have a material adverse effect on our business and prospects – and several employees have not yet been hired.
- Change of Control: It is possible that, at some point in the future, the Issuer could be merged, purchased, or restructured in such a way that the stewardship of your shares (and thus, your investment) is transferred to another party. This could, but would not necessarily, negatively impact your investment.

Upon the close of this Offering, if you have purchased shares in the Issuer, records of your purchase will be filed and managed by an SEC-registered Stock Transfer Agent.

12. How can you cancel your investment commitment?

NOTE: Investors may cancel an investment commitment until 48 hours prior to the deadline identified in these offering materials.

The Funding Portal will notify investors when the minimum offering amount has been met.

If the issuer reaches the minimum offering amount prior to the deadline identified in the offering materials, it may close the offering early if it provides notice about the new offering deadline at least five business days prior to such new offering deadline (absent a material change that would require an extension of the offering and reconfirmation of the investment commitment).

If an investor does not cancel an investment commitment before the 48-hour period prior to the offering deadline, the funds will be released to the issuer upon closing of the offering and the investor will receive securities in exchange for his or her investment.

OWNERSHIP AND CAPITAL STRUCTURE

The Offering

13. What are the terms of the securities being offered?

Terms: If you own shares in the Issuer, you have information rights, you have rights to participate in the Issuer's annual meetings, and you may receive cash from the Issuer's Revenue Sharing Program.

- Information Rights: You will receive annual reports that disclose information about the financial health of the Issuer and other relevant information about the Issuer.
- Participating in the Issuer's annual meetings: You will be notified when Meg Media Inc. (the incorporated entity for this Issuer) plans to hold its annual meeting. You can attend the meeting (though your attendance is not mandatory) and are entitled to a vote even if you don't own a majority of the Issuer's shares. It is possible that the Issuer will enable attendance by proxy or other means in the future.

14. Do the securities being offered entitle investors to voting rights? Yes No

15. Are there limitations on the voter rights mentioned above? Yes No

Explanation: Because the Issuer is offering Class A Common Stock, each share that you own will entitle you to 1 vote on major decisions related to the Issuer. However, as long as one party retains a majority ownership stake in the Issuer, they will be able to determine all major decisions concerning the Issuer.

16. How may the terms of the securities being offered be modified?

The terms of the securities cannot be modified after the closing of this Offering.

19. Are there any differences not reflected above between the securities being offered and each other class of security of the issuer? Yes
 No

20. Could the exercise of rights held by the principal shareholders identified in Question 6 affect the purchasers of the securities being offered? Yes No

Yes. Because the principal shareholders identified in Question 6 hold a majority of the voting shares of the Issuer, they could exercise rights that materially impact your investment. Although there are no plans to do either of the following, they could authorize and/or issue additional shares which could cause your ownership share to be diluted and/or modify the Issuer's Revenue Sharing Program which could reduce the amount of cash that is distributed to owners, including you.

21. How are the securities offered being valued?

The valuation of the company has been performed based on the issuers' qualitative and financial information, including but not limited to: 1. the quality, size and experience of the management team; 2.- the market of reference and business model; 3. the product/service and customers' feedback; 4. - the presence of strategic partnerships as well as external investors; 5. - the presence of relevant IP and/or legal risks; 6. - the current financial performance of the company; 7. - the projected financial performance of the company.

This information is combined with market-industry data, provided by a comprehensive valuation software, to come up with a comprehensive valuation estimate based on 5 different valuation models, 2 based on a qualitative assessment (named Scorecard and Check-List) and 3 based financial projections (namely: VC method, Discounted Cash Flows with Multiples, and Discounted Cash Flows with Long-Term Growth).

22. What are the risks to me relating to holding a minority ownership stake in the issuer?

Because you are purchasing securities and will own a minority share of the Issuer, you incur certain risks related to being a minority shareholder. These include (but are not limited to):

- The right to demand current distributions from an operating business is limited. A majority owner, if they are committed to avoiding any distributions to a minority owner, can usually avoid making any distributions of profits. By establishing generous reserves for future expenses, paying a salary to themselves or their relatives at the high range of what is reasonable, pre-paying expenses, investing in new business or new equipment, leasing expensive cars, etc., a majority owner can spend enough that there are rarely any profits to be distributed. So long as the expenses are not grossly unreasonable, the investor, probably, won't be able to force the Issuer to allow you to share in any of the current income of the Issuer.

- No right to participate in any management decisions of the company. The majority owner may make a decision that the investor think is bad and puts your interest in the Issuer at risk. The investor may see the majority owner running the Issuer into the ground. The investor can try to convince him that it is the wrong decision, but they don't have to take your calls.
- The investor has limited rights, if any, to decide whether or not your interest bought out. You may want to cash out your interest and do other things with the money. State law may give you the right to force the Issuer to buy you out, but these rights are limited.
- Payout to minority owners. While the investor would be entitled to a share of any profits on sale of the entire business, a sale can be structured in a way to avoid any payout to minority owners, such as a sale of assets over time with the proceeds reinvested in another business.

23. What are the risks to investors associated with corporate actions?

When you purchase and own securities in a company, there are certain risks related to actions that the company (in this case, the Issuer) could take. These include (but are not limited to):

- Additional issuances of securities: Following your investment in the Issuer, the Issuer may sell interest to additional investors, which could dilute the percentage interest of your ownership of the Issuer. You might have the opportunity to increase your investment in the Issuer in such transaction, but such opportunity cannot be assured. The amount of additional capital needed by the Issuer, if any, will depend upon the maturity and the objectives of the Issuer.
- Issuer repurchases of securities: The Issuer may have the authority to repurchase its securities from shareholders, which may serve to decrease any liquidity in the market for such securities, decrease the percentage interests help by other similarly situated investors to you, and create pressure on you to sell its securities to the Issuer concurrently.
- A sale of the issuer or of assets of the issuer: As a minority owner of the Issuer, you will have limited or no ability to influence a potential sale of the Issuer or a substantial portion of its assets. Thus, you will rely upon the executive management of the Issuer and the Board of Directors of the Issuer to manage the Issuer so as to maximize value for shareholders.

- Transactions with related parties: You should be aware that there will be occasions when the Issuer may encounter potential conflicts of interest in its operations. On any issue involving conflicts of interest, the executive management and the Board of Directors of the Issuer will be guided by their good faith judgement as to the Issuer's best interests. The Issuer may engage in transactions with affiliates, subsidiaries or other related parties, which may be on terms which are not arm's-length, but will be in all cases consistent with the duties of the management of the Issuer to its shareholders. By acquiring an interest in the Issuer, you will be deemed to have acknowledged the existence of any such actual or potential conflicts of interest and to have waived any claim with respect to any liability arising from the existence of any such conflict of interest.

25. Has the issuer conducted other exempt offerings within the past three years? Yes No

ORGANIZATION AND NATURE OF ACTIVITIES

Meg Media Inc. ("the Issuer") is an e-learning company registered in California.

SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("US GAAP").

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates. There were no significant estimates used in the preparation of these financial statements.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include all cash balances and highly liquid investments with maturities of three months or less when purchased.

Amounts Due to Shareholders

The Company's founders have advanced capital to the Company in the form of cash and by payment of certain formation and startup expenses. The amounts due accrue no interest and are payable from current income as the Company's earnings allow.

Federal Income Taxes

Any loss carryforward to which the Company may be entitled will be applied to future income to reduce income taxes payable. Due to the uncertainty associated with the Issuer's ability to take advantage of these carryforwards, management has elected not to record an associated valuation allowance. Net operating loss carryforwards expire after twenty years if unused.

The Company's federal tax filing for fiscal year 2017 will fall within the statutory period of review by the IRS until 2020.

Investor Brief

Today, the #1 source of work-related stress is losing your job to artificial intelligence or new technology.³ So imagine what students without an undergraduate degree must be feeling as they read about AI and other forces replacing jobs and forever changing the future of work.

The fast pace of technological change means that people need affordable and accessible higher education now more than ever. However, the costs of colleges and universities are skyrocketing. In 1979, someone could pay for a year's worth of college tuition by working a part-time, minimum wage job over the summer. Today, it takes a student almost 1,000 minimum-wage working hours to pay for that same tuition (before paying for books, rent, and everything else).⁴

In 2013, Eazl started working on problems like this. Because the existing American college system leaves many students in debt and unable to find a job, Eazl created and launched what is now the world's bestselling online career course for recent graduates. The course helps recent graduates write resumes, use modern job searching technologies, and develop interviewing skills.

Since then, Eazl has launched dozens of innovative online learning programs that have helped 100,000+ students worldwide fit into the new economy. Now, along with Picture Show Films, Eazl is launching the Digital Degree™, a $500 undergraduate business degree alternative accessible to students anywhere in the world. Future graduates will earn degrees that are issued on the blockchain are, in many ways, superior to traditional undergraduate degrees. Our goal is to help ensure that the economy of the future works for everyone.

Have you ever known a smart person who never finished their undergraduate degree? Most of us do. Why does this happen? According to the Pew Research Center, two thirds of people who don't earn degrees fail to earn them because of some form of financial hardship.⁵

Meet Mariana. She works two jobs--one of them at a coffee shop near Eazl's offices and another at Dunkin Donuts. She's the daughter of immigrants, a "Dreamer" who was brought to the US as young child. Mariana is friendly and she works hard. Today, it is impossible for Mariana to earn a degree. She's looked into it, and even with scholarships she'll owe $10,000 per year to pay for the most affordable university she can find. Without personal credit or eligibility for student loans, the dream of a degree is impossible for her.

So let's take a trip to the future. If Mariana doesn't ever earn a degree, she's likely to be stuck in low-wage work, to have a lower sense of self-worth, and to have a difficult time making a living in the new economy. But what if Mariana is able to earn her degree? The statistics say she will:

- live 9 years longer
- have 75% higher wages and earn $2.7 million more over the course of her life
- be 20% less likely to have major health problems
- increase her chances of having a life-long marriage by 20%
- be 40% less likely to have to interact with the criminal justice system⁶

We all know Mariana. Someone who became a young parent, who started college at the wrong time, who had to work as soon as they were 18, or who didn't have the right university nearby.

Using Eazl's experience teaching more than 100,000 adults we are pioneering a revolutionary approach to the undergraduate degree. It's a solution that meets the needs of four groups of people: students, employers, shareholders, and society. The program we've developed will ultimately enable students to earn a degree that is, in many ways, superior to the existing undergraduate credential. The total cost to each student? Around $500.

The Digital Degree™ is a collection of 50 interactive, video-based learning experiences that collectively offer students a well-rounded undergraduate business education. The Digital Degree™ is unique relative to traditional college programs:

- Lifetime Access: Students have lifetime access to their courses. Each includes bite-sized lectures, interviews with experts and practitioners, and practice activities. Many of these learning experiences also include templates, step-by-step guides, and sample collections. For example, as a Digital Degree™ graduate, if Mariana needs statistics at work in 12 years, she can go back to her class, take the lectures she needs, and apply it.
- Building a Portfolio: In order to earn credit, each student must complete work projects related to each course taken. Further, Eazl has built an Employability Team, a group of professionals who help calibrate these projects such that students get real world skills.
- Dedicated Mentor: Students will be graded and receive feedback from a dedicated mentor throughout their learning experience so that they can get personalized guidance as they learn.
- Learning from a Network of Experts: Because students are learning in a video-based environment, they're able to learn from experts and practitioners with diverse backgrounds, geographies, and worldviews in each course.
- Engaging Learning Experiences: Eazl has won awards for outstanding production quality. This focus on making the learning experiences attract and retain student's attention has resulted in a 70% increase in engagement with students (see Figure 1).

- Blockchain Degrees: each Digital Degree™ is issued and verifiable using blockchain technology. That means that employers or any other person or organization can verify a student's degree using a unique blockchain-generated ID.

The Digital Degree™ is an undergraduate degree program that meets the needs of students, employers, investors, and society. It enables any student with an internet connection and device to earn a well-rounded undergraduate degree with coursework that they can access and a large, global alumni network. We're fighting for Mariana and other people like her.

Frequently Asked Questions

Why is Eazl selling these shares? To build the Digital Degree™ program: a collection of 50 digital learning experiences. Together, these courses replicate what students learn in an undergraduate business program. In total, this will be 200-250 hours worth of interactive content. The full Digital Degree™ program should be available to students no later than December 31, 2025.

Do employers hire candidates with alternative degrees? Yes. In a 2017 study, 84% of recruiters surveyed said that candidates with alternative degrees were "just as prepared" or "more prepared" for jobs than grads with traditional degrees (source: Indeed.com).

Is the Digital Degree™ accredited? No, and we do not plan to seek accreditation with traditional college accreditation boards right away. However, we do plan to develop the Digital Degree™™ in alignment with the standards set by the California Postsecondary Education Commission and to seek accreditation in the future if it does not require us to raise prices substantially.

How does Eazl make money? When a student buys lifetime access to a digital course. Each course costs students around $10 and is sold through Eazl's platform and other distribution partners like Udemy.com.

How do investors in the Eazl make money? When their ownership stakes in the startup become more valuable.

Note: You can look into these financial projections in Appendix II. Also, nobody in from the Digital Degree™ or from TruCrowd can guarantee any results for you if you buy shares in this startup. Losing 100% of your investment is a real possibility.

What am I buying as a part owner of Eazl? Ownership shares in Meg Media Inc., a company registered in California. These shares entitle you to voting rights and equity ownership. They are just like the shares that all of the founders and creative partners have. In Appendix I of this document, you can read exactly how your ownership stake could make you money.

Why might the Digital Degree™ project fail? The 5 biggest risks and challenges are:

1. It's a major production effort and the team could have challenges working together.

2. Providing support to thousands of students could be more expensive than we think.
3. Students might complain that their Digital Degree™ doesn't come from an accredited university, which might make it hard to grow enrollment in the program.
4. The financial model in Appendix II might be overestimating demand for these courses.
5. The project relies heavily on the work of Davis Jones, the founder of Eazl. If something were to happen to him, it would be bad for the Project.

How do I become an owner of shares in Eazl? Any American citizen can own shares in Eaz and support the development of the Digital Degree™. To learn more, visit digital-degree.com.

Appendix I: How Eazl Owners Could Make Money While Doing Good

When buy shares in Eazl, you're buying an ownership stake in the Meg Media Inc., a California corporation. Ownership legally entitles you to potential money via equity ownership in Eazl.

Here's How Your Ownership Stake in the Eazl Could Become Valuable

Let's say that the Digital Degree program changes higher education and becomes a big hit like Eazl's Career Hacking course. For example, imagine that there are 10,000 students graduating with Digital Degrees in the each year, Eazl's other courses are doing great, and you were one of the first owners of Eazl. Let's also say that a socially-responsible company offers $60 million to buy Eazl (which is our 2029 target valuation for Eazl). If this happens, they might buy all the shares of Meg Media Inc., including yours. Here's how that would work:

*(# of Shares You Own / Total # of Project Shares) * 60,000,000 = Your Share of the Buyout*

If Eazl was to sell all of the shares in this Issuance and build the Digital Degree using that money, the total number of shares issued in Meg Media Inc. will be 67,879. If you buy 40 shares in Eazl, your share of the buyout would look like this:

*(40 / 67,879) * 60,000,000 = $35,357 cash for you from the buyout*
